EnerTech adds Energy Industry Leader

Conshohocken, PA (February 25, 2010) – EnerTech Capital announced today that Peter Green has joined the firm as an Entrepreneur in Residence (EIR).

Green is the former President and CEO of Advent Solar, an EnerTech Capital portfolio company. Green led Advent Solar from early 2008 to 2009 when it was sold to Applied Materials.

“We are delighted to have Peter formally aligned with the firm and look forward to supporting him as he develops new opportunities. He has been, and will continue to be, a great contributor to the EnerTech Capital family.” said Tucker Twitmyer, Managing Director of EnerTech Capital.

Green has more than 30 years of experience in the US and European semiconductor markets. Prior to Advent Solar, Peter led the Integrated Power Group at ON Semiconductor in Phoenix, AZ. He also held several senior management roles during his 22 years at Intel Corporation, including general manager of the Microcomputer Group, Digital Imaging Group, XScale and Handheld Computing Group. At Intel, he managed acquisitions and joint developments and was recognized for his involvement in successfully driving digital imaging and portable computing initiatives.

Green has also held sales and marketing roles at Texas Instruments in Europe and Houston, TX. Green joined Texas Instruments from Plessey, UK where he was a scientist responsible for design and implementation of missile guidance systems for the Ministry of Defense at the Allen Park Research Centre.
